2022

START

To the Board of Trustees of Okanagan Regional Library District

We are pleased to provide you with the results of our audit of Okanagan Regional Library District (the “Library”) financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2022.

The enclosed final report includes our approach to your audit, including: significant risks identified and the nature, extent, and results of our audit work. We will also report any significant internal control deficiencies identified during our audit and reconfirm our independence.

During the course of our audit, management made certain representations to us—in discussions and in writing. We documented these representations in the audit working papers.

The business environment has changed for us all during the time of COVID-19. Cash flow, strategy, operations: each has received a rethink. As your auditors, we have relied on our digital audit suite to stay connected—among ourselves, with management, and with you.

We look forward to discussing our audit conclusions with you. In the meantime, please feel free to contact us if you have any questions or concerns.

Yours truly,

Status of the audit

We have substantially completed our audit of the year ended December 31, 2022 financial statements.

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. The objective of our audit was to obtain reasonable, not absolute, assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement. See Appendix A for our final independent auditor's report.

The scope of the work performed was substantially the same as that described in our Planning Report to the Board of Trustees dated November 17, 2022.

Audit findings

As part of our ongoing communications with you, we are required to have a discussion on our views about significant qualitative aspects of the Library's accounting practices, including accounting policies, accounting estimates and financial statements disclosures. We look forward to exploring these topics in depth and answering your questions. A summary of the key discussion points are below:

Accounting and audit matters

Budget Allocation

There is a risk that management may manage purchases to match the budget by deferring costs to a later period; accruing and expensing costs to utilize unused budgeted funds; or allocating costs to different expense categories.

We performed the following procedures to mitigate this risk:

- Reviewed expense accounts for capital items;
- Performed a search for unrecorded liabilities; and
- Performed variance analysis of current year in comparison to prior year and to budget.

During the course of these audit procedures, it was assessed that the budget allocations are reasonable.

Accounting and audit matters

Estimates - Useful Life of Capital Assets

Given the size and type of the Library's tangible assets, there is a risk to the useful life of capital assets, such that an error in this estimate could have a material impact on the financial statement.

We performed the following procedures:

- Reviewed estimated useful life of tangible capital assets for the purpose of depreciation to determine that they are reasonable and consistently applied.

It was determined estimated useful life of tangible capital assets are reasonable and consistently applied.

Reserves

The reserve accounts are reconciled once per year at year end. As such, allocation errors could have a material impact on capital assets and purchases. In addition, transactions are sometimes posted directly to reserve accounts, instead of being transferred through the operating fund making reconciliation difficult.

We performed the following procedures:

- Obtained general ledger print outs and:
 - a. Agreed changes to appropriate source documentation;
 - b. Manually reconciled accounts with significant transactions; and
 - c. Checked arithmetic accuracy.

It was determined that the balances in reserve funds are reasonable.

MANAGEMENT REPRESENTATIONS

During the course of our audit, management made certain representations to us. These representations were verbal or written and therefore explicit, or they were implied through the financial statements. Management provided representations in response to specific queries from us, as well as unsolicited representations. Such representations were part of the evidence gathered by us to be able to draw reasonable conclusions on which to base our audit opinion. These representations were documented by including in the audit working papers memoranda of discussions with management and written representations received from management.

A summary of the representation we have requested from management can be requested from management or us.

ACCOUNTING ADJUSTMENTS

We discussed all significant adjusting journal entries that we proposed during the course of our audit with management. Management receives a copy of these adjustments and they are reviewed and approved by management. Copies of adjustments if so required can be requested of management.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT DISCLOSURE OMISSIONS

During the course of our audit we noted one circumstance where required financial statement presentation of an immaterial adjustment to the statement of operations was inconclusive as this which revenue category it should be recorded in.

UNADJUSTED AUDIT DIFFERENCES

During the course of our audit, we identified no audit differences more than trivial.

Fraud Discussion

Canadian generally accepted auditing standards require us to discuss fraud risk with the Board on an annual basis. As an update to the discussion held with the Board during the planning of our audit, we have prepared the following comments:

Required Discussion	BDO Response	Question to Board
Details of existing oversight processes with regards to fraud.	Based on our discussions during the planning of our audit, the Board's oversight processes include: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Board charters;• Discussions at Board meetings;• Review of related party transactions; and• Consideration of tone at the top.• Review of controls and control environment with management.	Are there any new processes or changes in existing processes relating to fraud since the date of our previous discussions, that we should be aware of?
Knowledge of actual, suspected or alleged fraud.	Currently, we are not aware of any actual, suspected or alleged fraud.	Are you aware of any instances of actual, suspected or alleged fraud affecting the Library?

AUDITORS' RESPONSIBILITIES FOR DETECTING FRAUD

We are responsible for planning and performing the audit to obtain reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free of material misstatements, whether caused by error or fraud.

The likelihood of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than the likelihood of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from error, because fraud may involve collusion as well as sophisticated and carefully organized schedules designed to conceal it.

OVERVIEW OF PROCEDURES DESIGNED TO DETECT FRAUD

Management Override of Control Risk

Canadian Audit Standard 240.32 requires auditors to consider the potential risk of management override of controls and management biases with estimates. In order to mitigate this risk, we performed the following procedures:

- Tested the appropriateness of routine and non-routine journal entries recorded to the general ledger; and
- Reviewed accounting estimates and considered their appropriateness.

From the extent of our testing, we determined that no management override of controls occurred and that estimates were free of clear management bias.

Fraud Risk Related to Revenue Recognition

Canadian Audit Standard 240.26 requires that auditors presume there are risks of fraud related to revenue recognition and the types of revenue, revenue transactions and assertions that give rise to such risks must be evaluated. In order to mitigate this risk, we performed the following additional procedures:

- Reviewed the adequacy of controls over revenue;
- Performed analytical procedures to determine the reasonableness of the revenue; and
- Performed additional audit procedures designed specifically to detect potential fraudulent transactions in the revenue streams. This was primarily performed by testing additional samples and items related to revenue to increase the overall testing.

From the extent of our testing, we determined that no fraud related to revenue recognition was identified.

Internal control matters

- ▶ During the audit, we performed the following procedures regarding the Library's internal control environment:
- ▶ Documented operating systems to assess the design and implementation of control activities that were relevant to the audit.
- ▶ Discussed and considered potential audit risks with management.
- ▶ We considered the results of these procedures in determining the extent and nature of audit testing required.

We are required to report to you in writing about any significant deficiencies in internal control that we have identified during the audit.

A significant deficiency is defined as a deficiency or combination of deficiencies in internal control that merits the attention of those charged with governance.

The audit expresses an opinion on the Library's financial statements. As a result, it does not cover every aspect of internal controls—only those relevant to preparing the financial statements and designing appropriate audit procedures. This work was not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control.

No control deficiencies were noted that, in our opinion, are of significant importance to discuss.

Other required communications

Professional standards require independent auditors to communicate with those charged with governance certain matters in relation to an audit. In addition to the points communicated within this letter, the attached table summarizes these additional required communications.

Updates to our audit process

▶ Canadian Auditing Standard 315, Identifying and Assessing the Risks of Material Misstatement, was significantly revised with a greater focus on more robust risk identification, assessment and response procedures. The standard is effective for periods beginning on or after December 15, 2021. Key enhancements include:

New guidance on identifying and assessing inherent risks (risk of material misstatement without consideration of control) and control risks (risk of control not preventing or detecting material misstatement)

Additional requirement to assess the likelihood and magnitude of misstatement, considering how inherent risk factors impact the degree to which inherent risk varies

Clarifying requirements on indirect and direct controls in the system of internal control and the need for evaluation of design and implementation of controls

Expanded information on the use of technology (IT environment and IT general controls) and related risks

More explicit standback requirement for evaluation of completeness and appropriateness of risk assessment process

Our audit approach: Responsiveness in action

Our firm is deliberately structured to allow one partner to every six staff members. This means easy access to senior staff and the lead partner throughout your audit. It also helps our team gain a better understanding of your organization. Our audit process differs from the typical audit in our use of in-field reviews, subject to COVID-19 safety protocols. The benefit of these in-field reviews is that final decision-makers are on site ensuring issues are resolved and files closed quickly. We offer clients the full-service expertise of a national firm. Yet we maintain a local community focus. The comprehensive range of services we deliver is complemented by a deep industry knowledge gained from over 100 years of working within local communities.

Independent Auditor's Report

To the Board of Trustees of the Okanagan Regional Library District

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of Okanagan Regional Library District (the "Library District"), which comprise the statement of financial position as at December 31, 2022, and the statements of operation and accumulated surplus, changes in net debt, and cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Library District as at December 31, 2022, and the statements of operations and accumulated surplus, change in net debt, and cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for public sector accounting standards.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Library District in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in Canada, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Unaudited Information

We have not audited, reviewed or otherwise attempted to verify the accuracy or completeness of the schedules on pages 20 through 28 of the Library District's financial statements.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for public sector accounting, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Library District's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Library District or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Library District's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Library District's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Library District's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Library District to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.
